COLIN (1997)

* Left BBHS with A levels in mathematics, physics and music.

* Initially went to university, but it did not work out. Now Head of Audit for Financial Crime at a London bank.

* Advice for current students: “Be prepared to recognise that your view of your future career plan may change. This is absolutely not to say do not pursue your dreams with absolute determination, but to recognise your dreams evolve. Take the plunge at opportunities that come your way. As long as you stay true to yourself, you are the only measure of your success.”
